The Way of Holistic Health

HOW MED SELECT CAN HELP YOUR PATIENTS

The system information therapy uses the patient's internal vibration information, i.e. biological frequency signals and homeopathic therapy information, as carrier signals. These biosignals are registered, stored, and used by Med Select for System Information Therapy.

The low-frequency resonance vibrations correspond to the fundamental frequencies of organs and cells. This way, it stimulates the immune system, activates self-healing processes, and synergistically supports the therapeutic effects.

How Med Select can help your patients

Steers the body's regulation back into the right channels through bioresonance therapy – which is the most modern form technically possible today.

Treats endogenous (patient-inherent) as well as exogenous (natural, synthetic) conditions with technical vibration information.

Combats a variety of conditions including allergies, toxins, chronic pain, old diseases, skin issues, and circulation problems.

Enriches experience with SI (system information) cards free of side effects. A patient can comfortably wear them in a sock or in the chest pocket of the shirt. This is why it can even be used on children.

Improves the absorption of nutrients and oxygen and the breakdown of toxins and waste products.

Discover many possible uses! SI cards function on the basis of magnetic field vibrations. These bring metabolic cell activity back into line with the cell's own magnetic vibrations. This improves the absorption of nutrients and oxygen, and the breakdown of toxins and waste products, the healing process is accelerated and/or pain is reduced.

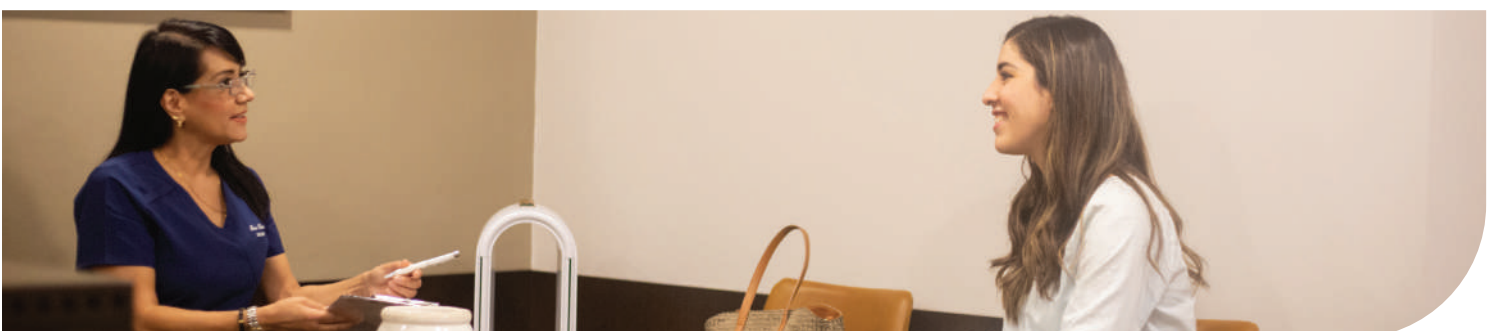

Prevents virus and bacterial attacks to sustain and improve vitality.

Automatically matches the therapeutic strategies to patient-specific reactive capacity, metabolic situation, and stress burden.

Enables user-defined program combination for customizable therapy parameters.
